

Control unit type 966MN

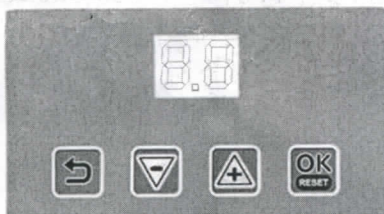

Burner control unit:

Copy from defective part!
Kopieer van defect onderdeel
Kopie von defekten Teils
Copier les réglages

Display unit:

The burner control unit and display unit both determine the configuration of the appliance.

If the burner control unit is defective and replaced, the display unit will define the right settings automatically.

If the display unit is defective and replaced, the burner control unit will define the right settings automatically.

If both the burner control unit and display unit are defective and replaced, the appliance cannot start. Contact your supplier for additional support.